

The only Spanish university institution with quality certification

Since its foundation, the School has maintained a quality policy, in which the entire staff has been involved, and which has affected all the School's activities, both teaching and other spheres. In October 1999, national and European quality certification (UNE-EN ISO 9002) was awarded to both its educational and administrative procedures, after auditing by the Laboratori General d'Assaigs i Investigacions (LGAi), thus becoming the only Spanish university institution with a quality certification.

Certified quality in education and administration

The quality objectives of the School have focused on:

- student satisfaction through constant improvements in service;
- guaranteeing continuous improvement in the learning processes;
- guaranteeing personalised and individual academic and professional tutoring for each student;
- ensuring that measures introduced in the future, in both teaching and administration, comply with quality requisites.
