

Escola Universitària
de Turisme i Direcció Hotelera
Adscrita a la UAB

We are aiming to incorporate new staff, capable of providing high quality teaching and applying innovative methods, in one of Spain's most prestigious universities in the framework of its unique, pioneer programmes in tourism and hotel studies. We require independent professionals and academics to teach in the new courses that we are currently designing and developing. Candidates must have an excellent level of English, as all classes will be imparted in this language. They also require knowledge and direct experience in the tourism and hotel management sectors, teaching capacity, a flexible timetable, interpersonal skills and willingness to work in groups, and dedication to the project.

For further information, consult EUTDH's website (www.euturisme-uab.com), as the new courses that will be offered and their corresponding contents correspond closely to the current Hotel Management programme (Graduat en Direcció Hotelera). If you meet the requirements and are interested in participating in this project, please send your CV, including details of your experience in the hotel, restaurant, tourism and leisure management sectors, together with an indication of the courses or modules in which you consider yourself competent to the following address: eutdh@uab.cat
